Overview. An adhesion contract (also called a "standard form contract" or a "boilerplate contract") is a contract drafted by one party (usually a business with stronger bargaining power) and signed by another party (usually one with weaker bargaining power, usually a consumer in need of goods or services). The second party typically does not have the power to negotiate or modify the terms of the contract.

Adhesion Contract Definition
Post on July 11th, 2016 by ClaimsMate. “Contract of adhesion” is one of those terms you don’t hear very often until it becomes really important. In the insurance world, a contract of adhesion – also known as an adhesion contract – is a contract where one party has significantly more power than the other when creating the contract. In order to create a contract of adhesion for home insurance, for example, the insurer provides the homeowner with standard terms and conditions which ...
