Family Tree Paper Cutting. June 22, 2012. Always a fan of personalized art, my attention was caught by the rings of this beautifully hand cut family tree by Amanda Bowe. At first glance I was a bit puzzled about the lack of actual names, but after reading the description in her shop, I was even more impressed: "Maybe this would be the perfect family tree for your adopted friend who was never able to find out much about her birth parents.

My family tree papercuts have been a firm favourite since I designed my very first one nearly a decade ago (wowser!). You'll need patience, but you'll find it very mindful and therapeutic. All templates are supplied as PDFs emailed to you and they will print out reversed (mirror image) meaning you don't have to be worried about the grey edges as you'll be cutting the back.

Scissors. Glue stick. Draw a large tree with many branches. Cut out leaves from the green construction paper or use leaf rubbings that you cut out. Each leaf will represent a person in the child's family and should be big enough to write that person's name on the leaf. Cut enough leaves for each of the child's siblings, parents, and grandparents (or more!).
