Writing your communications strategy 1. Statement of purpose. It is useful to say up front why you have developed a communications strategy and what you hope to achieve with it. This does not need to be very detailed, it acts as a reference and reminder for those using it in their work. For example: "This communications strategy shows how effective communications can: help us achieve our overall organisational objectives; engage effectively with stakeholders; demonstrate the success of our ...

Developing a communications strategy — NCVO Knowhow

Creating true business communication strategies is still a challenge for organizations. Even in large companies, we regularly see communication departments without a documented corporate communication strategy. This is surprising, because CEOs invariably say that they expect their chief communications and public affairs officers to be true

"strategic" partners.
