The metaphor of the elephant, the dragon and the yam is new. It nonetheless has the advantage that it gives life to the two large but lifeless boulders of the earlier metaphor. The metaphor, which of course alludes to India, China and Nepal respectively, also gives the three a history and a future. On the other hand, it seeks to give the impression that the three will find it hard to coexist.

The body style of the Elephant Dragon is stout. The main body color is brown while the chest and underbelly are a dark yellow. It has a thick trunk flanked by tusks and there are two crooked yellow horns growing straight out from the back of the brick-like eyebrows sitting above its small brown eyes. Its ears resemble large flaps formed from a thin membrane of skin growing out from the back of the head and the ear bone.
