Canon Paleo Curriculum Unit: 3 Evolution Lesson Plan 6

Caminalcules are imaginary animals invented by the evolutionary biologist Joseph Camin. They make ideal organisms for introducing students to two related topics: taxonomic classification and evolution. In this lab exercise each student first classifies 14 "living" species into genera, families, etc. Then, in groups of three, they construct an evolutionary tree of the Caminalcules using an additional 57 "fossil" species.

CLASSIFICATION AND EVOLUTION

Dicotomous keys are documents that allow you to classify and identify a species from its morphologic characteristics by going through a series of choices that leads the user to the correct name of the item. Dichotomous means "divided in two parts". At each step of the process of using the key, the user is given two choices; each alternative leads to another question until the item is identified.

Dicotomous Key - caminalcules

The Caminalcules can be used as a tool for evaluating taxonomic methods by virtue of their similarity to data sets of real organisms. Many of their properties, including evolutionary rates, species longevity, homoplasy, parallelism, and other measures for quantifying evolutionary change, are within the range of values that have been observed for real organisms.
