On this page you'll find links to pop-up designers (paper engineers) and links to tutorials and books that help you to create your own pop-up design. Most pop-up designs are based on a few basic pop-up techniques like pull, tilt, spin and lifting elements. Not only the popping-out part is important. A good paper engineer also works with motion and animates the way a pop up folds out and moves. This makes the effect and experience of interaction even stronger.
