The word "gospel" has become commonplace in many Christian traditions, and for many of us, the word has lost its potency and power. So in this week’s Bible Study, we are looking at how the Bible uses this word and the nuance that can get lost in translation. The word comes from the Greek word euangelion, and it simply means “good announcement” or “good news.”

This is a chronological parallel study of the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. The text is grouped into seven daily sections, making it useful for a week-long study beginning on Sunday and continuing through the week. Coupled with the canonical New Testament study (which does not include the gospels) this is a 52 week tour through the whole New Testament that may be completed in one year.
