The acrylic paintings of artist, Stanford Kay, while inspired by books, began as both abstract grid or stripe paintings with a nod toward trompe l'oeil representational images but have evolved dramatically as the Gutenberg Variations series has grown. A new series called The Permanent Collection is a reflection on impermanence and the accumulation of all things material.

If Stanford 2025 was a look into the future, this iteration (Part 2 of Stanford 2025) is a current look at how education leaders are already reshaping education. It's a collection of inspiring examples of leaders inside and outside of existing schools who are challenging traditional constraints and building new higher ed models.
